Increase the penalties What: The Vehicle Driver Fatality Analysis (VAF-FM) is a surveillance system designed to track and analyze motor vehicle crashes involving driver involvement. The system is a web-based platform that includes real-time driver mortality data from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, vehicle crash data from the Federal Highway Administration, and driver data from the National Driver Register. The VAF-FM is a complement to the Fatality Analysis Reporting System (FARS), a system for reporting traffic fatalities. The VAF-FM system is intended to capture drivers involved in all categories of fatal crashes, including crashes that result in fatalities but did not involve a driver fatality. The State Location Code (SLAC) includes a State and a two-digit county code. State and county codes are based on the 2011 4-character U.S. Census Regions. The Major Age Group code includes an age group code and a decimal age value. Age group codes are based on the 2011 5-character age distribution of persons in the U.S. population.

Decimal age values represent the number of age groups represented in a given percentage of the population. The month of the crash includes the name of the month (for example, February) and a numeric value representing the month (for example, 2). The year of the crash includes the current year (for example, 2012) and a numeric value representing the current year (for example, 12). The day of the crash includes the name of the day of the week (for example, Friday) and a numeric value representing the day of the week (for example, 5). The crash hour includes the name of the hour of the day (for example, 1) and a numeric value representing the hour of the day (for example, 1). The crash minute includes the name of the minute of the hour (for example, 0) and a numeric value representing the minute of the hour (for example, 0). The crash type includes a type code, a numeric value representing the type, and the related type description. Type codes are based on the 2011 5-character type groupings used in the FARS: D = Fatal C = Injury I = Fatal Injury B = Injury S =

Severity X = Location W = Weather E =
Equipment T = Driver C = Crash F = Fatality D
= Debris V = Vehicle W = Vehicle A = Alcohol-related R = Reckless T = Traffic A = Accident B
= Bike I = I-track X = Other The body part type
